Jackson Devlin

Project Part 1: Topic selection

Main Idea: Music store/site (Musical Jack's Songs, Instruments, and More)

About:

I am hoping to make a music website that talks about how and who made it (about us section), and it gives users ideas for songs or genres to listen to. The user can choose to look at recommended songs that I find to be interesting (song recommendations), and learn more about what genres there are that may be unheard of to them (music genres). They would be able to look at local concerts and sort through them by the genre they prefer (concerts within your area. Finally, I would like it to have a section that takes them to a music app or another page (i.e. Spotify, Apple Music) and has premade playlists made by genre. Also, allows them to look at music stores that sell instruments within their area in case they are interested in starting to play instruments.

Pages:

1. About Us: This page will be for the creator of the website, things such as who and why they developed it, initial starting in their taste in the music world, and their favorite genres, artists, and songs.
2. Music Genres section (link): this page will take a look at what kinds of genres are available to listen to and give them a brief explanation of what the genre entails, popular artists in that genre, and some possible starter recommendations
3. Concerts within your area (link): This page allows the user to use a filter set to see what concerts are in their area and list dates, times, and prices.
4. Music playlists (link): this page will take them to different playlists made and allow them to pick and choose what ones they might prefer for specific genres
5. Music shops within the area (link): this page will look at the local area of the user that they input and take them to that shop site to browse for instruments they may want to play.
